

Baltimore Woods Nature Center

Nature in your hands

Workshop and Open House Concert with Erica Wheeler

Saturday, September 26, 2009

Workshop: 2:30 pm–5:30 pm

Singer/songwriter Erica Wheeler looks to foster emotional connections between people and place, inspiring them to act on behalf of the places they care about.

The Soulful Landscape workshop gives participants a forum to write and share their stories about these places in unique ways. The workshop contains a presentation of place-based songs, stories, and visual arts, followed by some writing prompts. Participants who share their writing will delight as Erica creates a “song on the spot”, inspired by their writing.

Accommodates 10–30 participants, registration required—$25/participant, students with i.d. and BWNC members $15.

Open House: 6:00 pm–9:00 pm FREE

Doors open at 6pm

- Bring a picnic dinner • homemade desserts for sale
- raffle of artwork to benefit BWNC’s Nature in the City program
- Chris Baker art gallery exhibit “Sense of Place”

7:00pm – Soulful CNY Landscape Concert—FREE

Erica writes songs that are full of sharply detailed portraits of the American landscape and the lives lived there. Her music ranges in style from contemporary folk to country and bluegrass. Her voice is rich and warm, often conversational in style; her performances are engaging, inspiring and filled with hilarious stage patter and story. Her songs evoke a sense of place in the listener, so sit back and enjoy being whisked away by memories of places deeply rooted in your past.

7:45pm – Intermission and Raffle Drawing

Call (315) 673-1350 for more information

Special thanks to the Cultural Resources Council for their support of this program.

